FINLAND has taken the road to utter ruin which she so narrowly escaped in 1939-40.

Some of us may regret it, remembering her strides along the best lines of human progress between the wars, and with what brave principle she fought the winter war as the Russians, coldly practical, prepared their strategic defenses for 1941.

But Finland supported her pro-Nazi leaders, possibly helplessly but probably willingly, preferring the Germans to the Russians. For that decision, which only staved off this day when she has become another Italy, she must pay bitterly. The United States, one of her longest-suffering friends, can tolerate her no longer. Finland drops to the rank of the Hitlerite Balkans.

Oddly enough, the man most responsible for Finland's position is a former Russian army officer, Field Marshal Gustav Mannerheim, hailed from 1918 to 1941 as Finland's greatest patriot. He now stands as another Mussolini, wrecker of the country at whose birth he played the roles of both father and midwife. He now ranks even lower than Hitler's other satellites. Dr. Fuhrer brought them unto line with irresistible pressure. Mannerheim joined him with gusto.

Not that Mannerheim would have joined happily in a war on Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Britain or the United States. But he saw opportunity for revenge, for recapture of territory, and for venting of an old grudge against the Soviets.

And let their be no doubt as to Mannerheim's responsibility. A Swedish writer aptly said: "Finland is a republic but has both a president and a king. The king is called Mannerheim."

A high-ranking officer in the czar's army, Mannerheim, then 40, fled to the Bolsheviks in 1917. Returning home after 20 years, he found the Finns dreaming of freedom. He organized an army, invited German help in the form of Gen. Von Der Goltz' Baltic army, drove out the Russians and was dictator of the new state until, having fostered elections for a Republican government, he stepped out in 1919.

Mannerheim's hatred of Soviet Russia is not out of line with that of the Finnish people. That he should look on the Germans as Americans looked on the French after 1776 can be understood. That he should, however, gladly support a Nazi Germany is another matter. Field Marshal Gustav Mannerheim has descended from his place as the George Washington of Finland to officiate, her temporary, if not permanent, destruction.

British Tank
Unit Outflanks
Caen In Drive

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 28.—A powerful British armored drive outflanking Caen smashed through the Germans' Odon river defenses today and a big tank battle blazed in open country five miles southwest of that eastern Normandy base.

The invasion's biggest tank battle appeared to be under way or in the offing in the open terrain below Caen, which the Germans must defend or go into full retreat. The Germans have concentrated four armored divisions in the Caen sector.

The steel fist of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's offensive, punched across the Odon river, headquarters said, and a field dispatch said it had battered on more than a mile beyond the river.

German and Allied tanks then clashed in open country a mile north-east of Esquay—itself six miles southwest of Caen and about midway between the Odon and Orne rivers.

"The operation is very successful and we hold a very strong corridor across the Odon," a staff officer in the field told Associated Press War Correspondent Roger Greene.

Other British units meanwhile forged ahead toward Caen from the north, advancing in the Cambes area several miles above Caen.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that the Allies had suffered 40,549 casualties in the first two weeks of the invasion. German losses in killed, wounded and captured for three weeks of battle were estimated at not less than 70,000.

U. S. Casualties 24,162
American casualties were 24,162, more than half the total suffered by the Allies, and did not include those incurred in the assault on Cherbourg.

Clearing weather gave the Allies the opportunity to throw their air superiority into the furious battle raging on the eastern wing of the bridgehead. Yesterday 3,000 sorties were flown.

On the Cherbourg peninsula Americans captured an arsenal which had been holding out and attacked German-held Maupertus airfield to the east of Cherbourg and remnants of Germans trapped at Cap De La Hague.

30 INJURED IN
BUS COLLISION

Only Four Remain In Hospital After Accident Near E. Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 28.—Thirty persons were injured at 6:30 a. m. today in the head-on collision of two Valley Motor Transit Co. buses in a fog covered valley near Bradley's cut on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road.

East Liverpool police, passing motorists and most of the district's ambulances made hurried trips back and forth from the scene of the accident, carrying injured passengers to the East Liverpool City hospital. All but four of the 30 injured were released from the hospital after treatment of minor injuries.

Hospital attendants said no severe injuries were suffered by the passengers, although two of the four remaining in the hospital had broken legs.

C. O. Robinson of East Liverpool, driver of a bus traveling from Wellsville to East Liverpool, said the two buses collided on a curve, when fog reduced visibility. Floyd Tice of Steubenville was the driver of the other bus, which was traveling from Steubenville to Beaver, Pa.

Those most seriously hurt, and their injuries, are:

Laura Roush of Toronto, O., possible left leg or hip fracture; Irene Newla of Wellsville, hand lacerations and head injuries; James Drago of East Liverpool, broken ribs and possible right leg fracture, and the bus drivers—Robinson, 38, hand and scalp lacerations, and Tice, 47, forehead lacerations and possible leg fracture.

Investigators said Tice's bus carried 35 passengers and Robinson's eight.

Besides the nine for drunkenness there were: Two for assault and battery, one for embezzlement, four soldiers absent without leave, two disorderly conduct cases, two for driving while intoxicated, two for reckless operation and one for driving without a license.

Held at the Perry grange hall, the meeting drew more than 60 members and guests who spent the evening reviewing the club's first season which was brought to a highly successful close last week with the presentation of the old melodrama, "Tried But True."

Elwood Hammell was chosen by a substantial margin as the outstanding actor of the season for his performances in major roles in "Room Service" and "Tried But True."

Jane Filler, who played the title role of "Claudia" with such perfection, was practically a unanimous choice as the outstanding actress.

Scouts Will Rough It

At Lisbon On Friday

The 14th annual Columbiana County Boy Scout camporee, which begins Friday at Camp McKinley, near Lisbon, is being staged this year for scouts and scout troops at "par" in camping competition rather than trying their talents and group abilities against each other.

Under the direction of the county camping and activities committee, the affair this season will pit individual scouts and "patrols" within their respective troops against a standard camping grade, set by past camp lore programs.

A total number of points has been allotted for the campers to shoot at, and if they can meet the specifications in the numerous trials they will be awarded emblems and ribbons proving their ability, scout officials pointed out today.

Three-day event
Approximately 40 hours of competition against these "par" marks will be supervised at the camporee, and officials expect scouts and troops from Salem, Columbiana, East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine, Leetonia, Homeworth, Chester and Newell, W. Va., and Lisbon.

The event will last three days, starting Friday, and swimming instruction is to be included among

Sales To Date	176,572.75

With a total of $387,961 in bonds left to be sold in the Fifth War Loan drive, officials today pointed out to Salemites that $342,127.25 of that balance—nearly all of it—should be in E Bond sales.

Although yesterday's total sales were $149,101, only $14,212.50 of that amount was in E Bonds.

Sales in the drive so far now total $1,847,938.85 after yesterday's 185 individual sales. Of the total 4,352 sales, 3,988 were to E bond buyers but officials say most of the purchases were in such small amounts as to keep the city below its quota.

HOOVER FLAYS
NEW DEALISM

Delivers Scathing Denunciation At Republican Party Convention

CHICAGO, June 28.—Herbert Hoover was back in the political lists at 69 today after delivering the most scathing denunciation of the Democratic administration yet heard at the Republican national convention.

In a "fight until I die" speech, the only living former President told a cheering crowd of partisans last night that only by an upsetting of the Roosevelt administration "will our returning soldiers find freedom preserved at home."

The New Deal, Hoover said, "forged shackles for the liberties of our people."

He declared the New Deal smacked in midair form of tactics followed by European revolutions, and that President Roosevelt, the man who beat him in 1932, appears to be indulging in "power politics" and "personal power diplomacy" in foreign affairs.

Before he mounted the platform, Hoover told newspapermen:

"I'm going to stay in this fight until I die. The fight is for everything that is precious to the American people."

Beaming with apparent good health, Hoover ended speculation that he might not take an active part in this campaign. He left no doubt that he will be in the thick of the fight for a Republican victory this November.

N.Y. Governor
Is Nominated
By 1,056 To 1

BULLETIN

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 28.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York was nominated for president today by a wartime Republican national convention that was his from the start.

The 42-year-old mustache-gang-buster swamped all opposition as state after state roared out their votes amid the traditional accompaniments of bands, klieg lights and bake-oven heat.

Another governor—tall, handsome John W. Bricker of Ohio—was slated for the vice-presidential nomination after forsaking his own drive for the No. 1 spot.

It was Dewey all the way, and the roll-call was just a formality after the riotous, band-led snake dance which followed nomination of the Michigan-born attorney by Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska.

The final vote on roll call was 1,056 to 1.

By PAUL MILLER, Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO STADIUM, June 28.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's name formally was placed in nomination for president, Gov. John W. Bricker promptly announced his own withdrawal—and the 23rd Republican national convention sped smoothly as a well-oiled machine today toward a Dewey-Bricker ticket for the fight to regain the White House this fall.

In a dramatic convention appearance to tremendous applause, at the termination of a rousing denunciation which greeted the nominating speech for Dewey, the tall Ohioan strode to the speaker's stand, looked steadily over the vast reaches of the teeming convention hall and said:

"I am deeply grateful to the many friends who have expressed their loyalty to me, but far more important than that to the cause for which I have tried to stand."

"I am personally more interested—and this comes from the depths of my heart this morning; personally, I am more interested in defeating the New Deal philosophy of absolutism which is threatening Americans today; I am more interested in defeating the I am ever of being president of these United States."

"I understood as you do that it is the overwhelming desire of this convention to nominate a great, vigorous, fighting young American—the noble, the dramatic and the appealing governor of the great state of New York, Thomas E. Dewey."

Praises Dewey's Record
There were cries of "no" from some of the Bricker boosters, as the governor continued:

"What a magnificent job he (Dewey) has done as governor. He understands not only domestic issues, but their involvement in international issues. The relationships of the world tomorrow are going to be more trying than ever before."

"Tom Dewey will become the gallant leader of the Republican hosts which free America and return America to the Republican democracy next January."

Bricker thanked the Ohio delegation for its support, saying:

"I am asking them not to present my name to this convention, but to cast their vote along with the host of friends which I have here for Thomas E. Dewey for president of the United States."

No sooner had Bricker turned from the platform than Chairman Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts announced:

"I now introduce Sen. Ball of Minnesota." Ball led the campaign in behalf of Lt. Commander Harold E. Stassen for president.

He said:

"Ours has been a clean fight. We are proud of Commander Stassen."

Stassen Withdraws
"As long as there was the slightest chance of Stassen's nomination we were determined to present his name to this convention. Governor

HATRED NOT BASIS
FOR PEACE, STATE
SENATOR DECLARES

No peace on hatred can be lasting, declared State Senator John P. Stephenson of East Liverpool in a talk before the Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Memorial building.

In discussing the subject, "A Lasting Peace—Can We Attain It?" Stephenson traced the history of great conflicts and the peace covenants and treaties that followed.

All of the latter had hatred and revenge as the underlying motives, he said. Included was the Versailles treaty which, he said, was the product of George Clemenceau, whose motive was revenge for earlier grievances against the Prussians.

Stephenson insisted an international police force will not bring peace after the present world war and added that peace can come to the whole world only through the principle of the brotherhood of man.

The speaker was presented to the club by Ralph Hawley.

KEYNOTE

Gov. Earl Warren's Republican keynote speech, aside from being a bell-ringer for the party, had a message of general interest to the public at large—including the political opposition.

The governor talked about opening the door for all Americans—"to open it not just to jobs, but to opportunity." Americans have been preoccupied in their post-war thinking with the necessity of finding enough jobs to go around. We have been neglecting the source of jobs, which is enterprise.

Before the war boom came along to make so many jobs that people couldn't be found to fill all of them, enterprise was having a fight for its life under some of the strangest circumstances ever created by politics. Instead of nursing the source of the people's well-being and the government's revenue back to health, politicians were spending most of their waking hours sticking pins in it to make it squirm.

That was New Deal policy before the war. During the war, of course, enterprise has been called on to perform miracles, using public funds but depending on its private wits. It has done what was expected of it, and in most cases it has exceeded expectations. But the public funds won't last forever.

As Gov. Warren has said—and the sentiment isn't partisan but objective—the question is whether the United States will be able, after the war, to move forward to new and greater opportunities. There is an honest difference of opinion over the means of doing so, and that is the political issue of 1944.

Mr. Roosevelt's following will continue to stand for the ideas which have characterized it since it threw overboard the platform adopted by the Democratic convention in 1932 and instituted the New Deal; it will stand for more of the same.

The Republican party will stand for a change of direction and a change of atmosphere. It will submit for the people's consideration that more of the same would be simply to take up the frustration of the depression where it was interrupted by the beginning of the war boom. It will submit that the only way to make jobs is to make opportunities, because real jobs can come only from continuous expansion of private enterprise. It will submit that the policies favored by the New Deal did not help enterprise before the war boom and cannot help it after the boom.

The issue in 1944, in other words, is not a talking point raised by political spokesmen, but a question in the minds of all the people. By stating it, Gov. Warren has done a good job for all the people concerned in it as well as for the Republican convention.

PRICE INDEX

A further increase of approximately two points in the price index being supplied by CIO to offset the index used by the bureau of labor statistics and to match whatever other index may be admitted as evidence in the cost-of-living argument suggests that the whole price index business is about washed up.

A price index has no actual relation to the cost of living. The cost of living is what families pay to maintain themselves. If their incomes do not rise, it remains a fairly constant figure, regardless of what happens to the price index. If their incomes do rise, their cost of living is likely to rise with it.

Thousands of families whose incomes have not risen, or have decreased, are living for no more than it cost them to live before the war—or less. Any one of them could make up a price index of the things they buy which would not remotely resemble the index of the things being bought by other families whose cost of living has soared because they had the wherewithal to let it soar.

In short, a price index is not a cost-of-living index. If it were, citizens whose cost of living has gone up 300 percent, instead of the modest 45.3 pointed to by the CIO, would have an argument for an increase in income too. There can be as many indexes as there can be combinations of commodities and all of them, including the one prepared by the bureau of labor statistics, are worthless as guides to what it actually costs people for living expenses.

IT TAKES TWO TO RACE

Gov. Dewey apparently has clinched the Republican nomination for president in advance. Barring such a turn of events as occurred four years ago at Philadelphia, when he also apparently had clinched the nomination, the honor of heading the party will belong to him when the balloting is over.

If there had been no race for the nomination there would be no honor in having it. Gov. Bricker has made the race. Everybody else dropped out, except former Gov. Stassen of Minnesota, who couldn't do much running by remote control from his post aboard a battleship.

Perhaps it has been smart politics for Gov. Dewey to pretend he wasn't racing when he was, and it might have been smart politics for Gov. Bricker to pretend he wasn't racing, either. But there is no such a thing as politics being too smart. There are no delegates in the convention, it is safe to bet, who aren't glad Gov. Bricker made the statement that he thought his presidential nomination was worth having. The opposition should be allowed to retain its monopoly on the one-man race. It ceases to be interesting after a while.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, June 29.

A DAY of dramatic and exciting events, affecting the business and personal life, with precipitate and far-reaching significance, is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. Sudden and unpredictable visitations, probably demanding a radical and fundamental about-face in all angles of living, if quickly and prudently grasped may build a future of romantic, progressive and productive status, with promotion, leadership, popularity, and prestige. Romance and adventure may loom large. But don't be unreasonably carried away by the impulses. Be sensible.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a sudden and unprecedented upheaval of far-reaching reaction on the future, its security and high significance. This may affect the romantic, intellectual and business career, which may have factors of public importance. Quick, logical and sagacious, even exceptional or unorthodox, tactics may turn this opportunity toward high levels of accomplishment, adventure, fine fortune and romance. Thrills, drama, unique experiences may await in new pastures, if not too emotionally or impulsively pursued.

A child born on this day may be abundantly endowed with exceptional skill, talents and creative abilities, which may lift it to the limelight or to romantic or spectacular heights, with great adventure and drama in its career.

About the best thing you and I can do about the post-war world is to be sure we get out of ourselves the things we want to see gotten out of the world of the future—vengeance, greed, fear, intolerance and conflict.—Rev. Samuel M. Shoemaker, New York City Calvary Episcopal church.

They ask me if there isn't something they can do for me. . . I tell them, "yes, you can invest in a plane and a kid to take the place of Robert and his plane."—John Kakerbeck, Worthington, N. Y., buying War Bonds after death of his son Robert over Europe.

In the development of our industry and immense natural resources, we welcome foreign investment and technicians.—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Americans Practically Live On Aspirins

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I SUPPOSE aspirin is the most widely used drug in the United States. Caffeine certainly rivals this universally and very probably sur-

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

passes, it, but caffeine is used so much like a food that we hardly think of it as a drug.

This increasing popularity of aspirin is not easy to explain. I know people who use it as a sleeping tablet and others who consider it a pepper-upper. Of course, it is constantly taken for colds, headaches, rheumatism, and muscular aching and then also on general principles.

I have a letter which expresses the general state of opinion as follows: "Won't you write an article on aspirin? Many of us, when we feel tired and nervous, take one or two tablets with a coke or just water. Seems to fill the bill, but we would like to know whether there is any reason we should not do so."

Aspirin Usually Harmless

To answer the last question first, I do not know of any reason why aspirin should not be taken in any quantity. The only exception to this is that there are people who are definitely allergic to it, and it produces very severe symptoms in them. But they go into the allergic state on very small amounts and almost immediately after the aspirin has been swallowed.

I had one terrifying experience with a man to whom I gave some capsules containing two grains each of aspirin. He took one capsule as soon as he had got home and within five minutes his throat and tongue had swollen so that he nearly died of suffocation. I worked with him all night and the experience taught me that there is such a thing as sensitivity to aspirin. But, as was said, the reaction occurs when very small doses are absorbed, and one can assume that if a person is able to take five grains of aspirin without harm, he will be able to take almost any amount.

One of my friends who strongly believes in the use of aspirin in arthritis gives as much as a hundred or two hundred grains a day for a period of several weeks with out untoward symptoms. So I believe we may assume that for practical purposes it is harmless.

Action of Aspirin

Now as to its actions. It was introduced into medicine as a substitute for salicylic acid and sodium salicylate in rheumatism. Those preparations upset the stomach when given in large doses. It was claimed for aspirin that it would not do this. Chemically it is acetylsalicylic acid. This salicylates are indicated primarily in acute inflammatory rheumatism. They reduce fever of any kind and have a selective action in stopping joint pains.

But they also relieve pain in general anywhere of any type, so aspirin is properly put into headache capsules, cold tablets, etc.

That is about as far as the science of pharmacology will go in recommendations for aspirin. As to its use as a sleep producer or nerve quietener there is no scientific evidence, but it is so generally used in this way and seems to get results so often that the ultra-scientific can hardly afford to scoff at such claims. Such popularity must have some foundation.

Of course, when my correspondent speaks of combining it with a coke and other things he is complicating the problem. Any form of caffeine beverage (and this includes most of our soft drinks) helps to dissipate that let down feeling. Besides caffeine is what is called synergistic with aspirin—and when taken in combination each augments the other's action. If you look at the label on any of the popular cold remedies you will find in most cases that aspirin and caffeine are both present.

Auto Club Manager Lists 'Don'ts' For Pedestrians

Don't be a "signal jumper," a "gutter stander," or a "corner cutter" advises A. P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Automobile club. Persons in these three categories are responsible for many traffic accidents most of which could be eliminated.

A "signal jumper" leaves the curb just when the traffic signal is changing and gets part way across the street to find traffic bearing down upon him—traffic which was legally clearing the intersection when he started across illegally.

A "gutter stander" insists on standing off the curb while waiting for the light to change. He makes it difficult for drivers to make right turns and is in danger of being hit by passing trucks or other large vehicles.

A "corner cutter" gets almost across the intersection when the light changes, so he cuts the corner and continues on across the other crosswalk without paying any attention to traffic.

Approximately 40 per cent of the traffic fatalities for 1943 were pedestrians, many of whom, says Morris, were one of the three classes listed above.

Wrestling is the most universal and primitive of all sports.

"Pin Worms Can't Harm MY Child!"

Better learn the Truth, Mother!

You may think that Pin-Worms are just a harmless nuisance. Or you may think that this tormenting, embarrassing infection strikes only certain types of people. Don't you believe it! Rich or poor, young or old—anybody, anywhere can have Pin-Worms. And these crawling pests, living and growing inside the human body, can cause real distress. So watch out for the warning signs that may mean this nasty infection—the aggravating rectal itch; also, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting and uneven appetite. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a package of P-W tablets right away, and be sure to follow the directions. P-W is the new Pin-Worm treatment developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

Important Scientific Discovery
The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets contain a remarkable drug (gentian violet) that is being hailed by high medical authorities as the most effective means ever discovered for dealing with Pin-Worms. Thanks to this important new scientific discovery, P-W works in a special, gentle way to destroy stubborn Pin-Worms. Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM GETS IRONED OUT

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Charles W. Tillett, assistant chairman of the Democratic National committee, has learned how to meet the wartime manpower shortage.

Recently, when she could not get valet service at a small-town hotel, she recalls, she pressed herself in sections.

She found the hotel linen room and an iron, took off her skirt and pressed that. She put it back on. She took off her blouse, keeping on her jacket while she pressed that. She put on her blouse while she pressed the jacket.

Mrs. Tillett says that when she finished she was ready to address a large group of clubwomen.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN

©1943 by LITTLE, BROWN &amp; CO. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

CHAPTER SIX

Mr. Queen was mentally sifting the evening's grist as he strolled back to his house in the warm darkness. The leaves of the big elms were talking; there was an over-size moon; and his nose was fitted with the scents of Hermione Wright's flowers. But when he saw the small roadster parked by the curb before his house, dark and empty, the sweetness fled. He felt that something was about to happen.

A gun-metal cloud slipped across the moon, as Mr. Queen made his way along the edge of his lawn on the muffled grass toward the little house, a point of fire took shape on his porch. It was swaying back and forth about waist-high to a standing man.

"Mr. Smith, I presume"

A woman's contralto. Slightly furred with husk, it had a mocking quality.

"Hello!" he called, mounting the porch steps. "Mind if I turn on the porch light? It's so beastly dark—"

"Please do. I'm as curious to see you as you are to see me."

A young woman was curled up in a corner of the side-swinging blind at him from behind the streaming veil of her cigarette. The dove suede of her slacks and a cashmere sweater caught his eyes.

She laughed, a little nervously he thought, and flipped her cigarette over the porch rail into the darkness.

U. S. NAVY MEDICS TRIED AND PROVEN

Stand Prepared For Pacific Fleet's Showdown Battle With Japs

International News Writer

PEARL HARBOR—The medical arm of the American fleet in the Pacific is ready and has its plans all drawn for a possible showdown battle with the Japanese fleet.

The fleet medical officer, Capt. T. C. Anderson, who is on the staff of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, indicated in an interview that the plans were formulated long ago and the men aboard all warships which might be involved in such a raging battle-to-the-death would get the speediest and best treatment humanly possible.

Mortality Rate Very Low

And past experiences provide a wealth of information on future plans for the navy can point to the fact that the mortality rate for its wounded in this war has been kept at approximately three per cent as compared to the seven per cent figure of the last war.

In outlining medical plans for a possible fleet engagement, Captain Anderson said:

"The initial care of injured is on combatant ships. Each ship is equipped not only for first aid treatment but for continued care of patients until they may be transferred to a hospital ship or to a base hospital ashore."

The captain "saluted" the Navy nurses on these hospital ships for the work they have done.

"Our Navy Nurses have done a marvelous job and we know they will continue their good work," he said. "They are loyal to duty and make as good sailors as the men."

"And they contribute distinctly (by their presence) to the recovery of the patients."

Cared For 10,000 Patients

One of the Navy's hospital ships, the USS Solace, was at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. Thousands of injured and survivors were put aboard during and after the Battle of the Coral Sea. During a 16-month period in 1942-43, the 45-bed Solace cared for 10,000 patients of which 7,500 were war casualties. Of the entire 10,000, only 16 men died.

Seventeen medical officers, two dental officers, 21 nurses and 160 hospital corpsmen make up the medical personnel of this converted passenger liner, built in 1927. The Solace has been referred to as "the workhorse of the sea, and with its sister-ship, the USS Relief soon will be joined by three more, bigger and better equipped hospital ships.

Available information shows that since Pearl Harbor 55 per cent of all Navy wounded have been returned to duty and that only two per cent of all wounded were disabled to such an extent that a medical discharge was considered necessary.

"On the basis of casualty figures so far, the Navy fighting man today has a better chance of coming through with a sound mind and body than ever in military history," the information bulletin of the Bureau of Naval Personnel declares on this point.

100,000 In Medical Service

The publication further points out that for 1943 the Navy and Marine Corps death rate was 3 per cent of entire personnel and noted that the last figures of the U. S. Census bureau placed the peacetime American death rate at 1.79 per cent annually.

The Navy's medical department, charged with the preservation of the lives and health of the greatest navy in the world, has more than 100,000 members and, according to Captain Anderson, the "loss of medical men in the Navy has not been heavy." He recalled that Navy doctors went in with the Marines at Tarawa and two were killed.

The work of these thousands upon thousands of men and women is described as forming "a chain which reaches from the front lines to the home hospitals—doctors, nurses, dentists, scientists, research workers and hospital corpsmen—and they work toward one aim:

"To keep as many men at as many guns as many days as possible."

"You may turn off the light now, Mr. Smith. I'm a fright, and besides I shouldn't want to embarrass my family by making them aware I'm in their immediate neighborhood."

Ellery obediently switched off the porch light. "Then you're Miss Lola Wright." The one who had eloped, and come back divorced. The daughter of Wrights never mentioned.

"As if you didn't know!" Lola laughed, and hiccupped. "Excuse me. Seventh hiccup of a seventh Scotch. I'm the drinking Wright girl."

Ellery admitted, "I've heard the vile slanders."

"I was all prepared to hate you from the knowing that's been going on, but—you're all right. Shake!" The swing creaked, and steps shuffled to the tune of an unsteady laugh. He gripped her arms to save her from falling. Lola placed her palms against his starched shirt and pushed strongly. "Whoa, Geronimo! The man'll think I'll Lola's blotto!" He heard her totter back to the swing, and its creak. "Well, Mr. Famous Author Smith, and what do you think of us all? Good material for a book, eh?"

"Elegant."

"You've come to the right place." Lola Wright lit another cigarette; the flame trembled. "Wrightsville! Gossip, intolerant.... More dirty linen to the square inch of backyard than New York or Versailles."

"Oh, I don't know," argued Mr. Queen. "I've spent a lot of loose time prowling, and it seems a pretty nice place to me."

"Nice!" She laughed. "Don't get me started. I was born here. It's a breeding place of nastiness."

"Then why," murmured Mr. Queen, "did you come back to it?"

The red of her fresh cigarette waxed three times in rapid succession. "None of your business. Like my family?"

"Immense. You resemble your sister Patricia. Same physical glow, too."

"Only Patty's young, and my light's going out." Lola Wright mused for a moment. "I suppose you'd have to be polite to any local Wright. Look, Brother Smith. I don't know why you came to Wrightsville, but if you're going to be pals with my kin, you'll hear a lot about little Lola eventually, and, well, I don't give a hell what Wrightsville thinks of me, but an alien.... that's different. Goo-grief! I still have vanity!"

"I haven't heard anything about you from your family."

"No?" He heard her laugh again. "I feel like baring my soul tonight. You'll hear I drink. True, I learned it from—I learned it. You'll hear I'm seen in all the awful places in town, and what's worse, alone. Imagine! I'm supposed to be 'fast.' The truth is I do what I please, and all these cultures of women on the Hill, they've been tearing at me with their claws!"

Lola paused, then continued: "I don't blame my mother. She's narrow, like the rest; her social position is her whole life. But if I'd play according to her rules, she'd still take me back—she's got spunk. Well, I won't play. Understand?"

"I understand. Go on. Say it!"

"I understand," Ellery nodded.

Lola then said: "I'm boring you. Good night."

"I want to see you again."

"No. Good-bye."

Her shoes scraped the porch floor. Ellery turned on the light again. She put up her arm to hide her eyes.

"Well, then, I'll see you home, Miss Wright."

"Thanks, no. I'm—"

She stopped.

Patricia Wright's gay voice called from the darkness below: "Ellery? May I come up and have a chat with you? Carter's gone home and I saw your porch light—" Pat stopped, too.

The two sisters stared at each other.

"Hello, Lola!" cried Pat. She vaulted up the steps and kissed her sister vigorously. "Why didn't you tell me you were coming?"

Mr. Queen put the light out again quickly. But he had time to see how Lola clung—briefly—to her taller, younger sister.

"Lay off, Snuffles," he heard Lola say in a muffled voice. "You're muzzing my hair-do."

"And that's a fact," said Pat cheerfully. "You know, Ellery, this sister of mine is the most attractive girl ever to come out of Wrightsville. And she insists on hiding her light under frumpy old slacks!"

"You're a darling, Pats," murmured Lola, "but—it's no dice, and you know it."

Pat said miserably: "Lo dear.... why don't you come back?"

"I think," remarked Mr. Queen, "I'll walk down to that hydrangea bush and see how it's making out."

"Don't," said Lola. "I'm going now. I really am."

"Lola!" Pat's voice was breaking as her sister cut in with, "You see, Mr. Smith? Snuffles. She was always snuffling as a brat. Pat, now stop it! This is old hat for us two."

"I'm all right," protested Pat. "I'll drive home with you."

"No, Patsy. Night, Mr. Smith!" "Good night."

"And I've changed my mind. Come and see me any time you like. Night, Snuffy!"

And Lola was gone.

When the last rattle of Lola's old coupe died, Pat said in a murmur: "Lo lives in a two-room hole down in Low Village, near the Machine Shop. She wouldn't take alimony from her husband and she won't accept money from 'Pop. Those clothes she wears—six years old. She supports herself by giving piano lessons to Low Village hopefuls at fifty cents each."

"Pat, why does she stay in Wrightsville? What brought her back after her divorce?"

"Don't salmon or elephants or something come back to their birthplace... to die? Sometimes I think it's almost as if Lola's... hiding."

Pat's silk taffeta rustled suddenly. "You make me talk and talk. Good night, Ellery."

"Night, Pat."

Mr. Queen stared into the dark night for a long time.

Yes, it was taking shape. The elements were here, but the crime—if a crime. Where was it?

Or had it already occurred?

Ellery went to bed in Calamity House with a sense of sinister events past, present, and future.

On the afternoon of Sunday, August 25, nearly three weeks from the day of his arrival in Wrightsville, Ellery was on his porch, enjoying the sunset when Ed Hotchkiss's taxicab charged up the Hill and squealed to a stop before the Wright house next door. A hatless young man jumped out of the cab. Mr. Queen felt a sudden agitation and rose for a better view.

The young man shouted something to Ed Hotchkiss, bounded up the steps, and jabbed at the Wright doorbell.

Old Ludie opened the door. Ellery saw her fat arm rise as if to ward off a blow. Then Ludie scuttled back out of sight, and the young man dashed after her. The door banged.

Five minutes later it was yanked open: the young man rushed out, stumbled into the waiting cab, and yelled to be driven away.

Ellery sat down slowly. It might be.... He would soon know. Pat would come flying across the lawn.... There she was.

"Ellery! You'll never guess!"

"Jim Haight's come back," declared Ellery.

The New York State Conservation Department has at least a partial answer to the question, "how far do trout migrate after being stocked in good trout waters?" A department survey of two Western New York creeks shows that 60 per cent of tagged fish were caught in practically the same area as planted. The longest migration recorded was a spring planted trout which moved upstream nearly eight miles.

Royal Marines, U. S. Marines, Close Buddies

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Unique in military annals are the strong bonds of friendship that exist between the Royal Marines of Great Britain and the U. S. Marine Corps.

The mutual understanding that exists between these two bodies of fighting men is based upon an understanding and association in far away parts of the world through many decades. Each has a healthy, wholesome respect for the other's abilities and achievements under arms.

Fought Side by Side

A recent issue of Headquarters Bulletin, official Marine Corps publication, relates how these two famous Corps have fought side by side, against pirates in the West Indies—slave traders in Africa—hostile natives in Samoa and Boxers in China. During World War I men of both Corps served together in the North Sea.

In United States ports, American Marines make it their individual and collective business to see that their British cousins enjoy their off-duty time. In England, and throughout the Colonial ports where His Majesty's Navy is "in temporary residence" British Marines vie with one another to see that American leather neckties are made to feel at home.

Royal Marines, like our own soldiers of the sea, are used largely as shock and assault forces. Their record since 1664 an impressive one, is studded with battle honors won in every quarter of the globe. During World War II, through extreme sacrifice and characteristic heroism they have added many new honors to their famous colors.

Unite Against Common Foe

During peace time, in foreign ports the members of the two English speaking Corps gravitate toward one another when on liberty. A conspicuous act of friendship was the presentation of a bulldog mascot "Private Paget" to the American Devil Dogs by the Royal Marines several years ago.

Today, "down under," members of the two Corps meet again—and once more as allies they join forces against a common foe—a combat combination that should and is proving lethal.

Strange Bivouac

CAMP VAN DORN, Miss.—Civilian girl employees of this post, seeking escape from the stifling heat, fled their dormitory to camp outside the building, bringing bedrolls and blankets with them. A startled M. P. discovered them and conducted an hourly check of the bivouac area thereafter to see if all were well.

Many Danish women have "curiosity mirrors" which enable them to look up and down the street from their windows.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red blood.

A growing person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be digested and rich, red-blood must be present to build sturdy bodies. S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite... firm flesh... body energy... mental alertness!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. U.S.S.S. Co.

Mothers Club Installation Dinner Held

The seventh annual installation of officers was held following a dinner last night in the Christian church by the Progressive Mothers' circle.

Mrs. J. J. Dornon, president, and other officers were inducted in candlelight ceremonies conducted by the members. Mrs. Dornon presented a gift from the group to Mrs. Blair Curry, retiring head.

The tables for the dinner were attractively arranged with centerpieces of garden flowers, arranged by the committee, which included Mrs. Michael Schuller, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Lester Bateman and Mrs. A. W. Lieder. Yellow tapers in crystal holders lighted the tables.

Mrs. Guy Byers, guest speaker, reviewed the Willie Snow Elbridge book, "This Little Pig Stayed Home" as a feature of the program.

Mrs. Dornon named her program committee for next year. Members are Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. M. W. Riegel, Mrs. Carl Abe and Mrs. L. L. Russell.

Eight Fliers, Three Wounded, Saved From Channel After 44-Hour Travail

(By International News Service)

A LIBERATOR STATION, Britain—For 44 hours the sea cradled eight men whose flak-stricken Liberator valiantly gave them a chance for their lives before she disappeared into a channel grave.

The Liberator, one engine gone, had bombed her target over Germany and proudly the cripple kept fight with her group until a multitude of difficulties made it necessary for her to leave the others. There were 10 men living when the pilot called out "here we go" and placed his nameless ship on wind-swept waters. Several minutes later there were nine; three hours later there were eight. Three were wounded.

Co-Pilot Goes West

When the Liberator sprang out her crew, the injured co-pilot, was very weak. He died before the others could get him into a dinghy. The men first placed their injured and weak in one dinghy, with only one able bodied man, Staff Sgt. Wilfred Haschke, of Cedar Rapids, Neb., right waist gunner, to care for them. For 44 hours this boy faithfully kept his guard. It was an almost silent group. Once the pilot asked for a cigarette. There was only one other request—the

Farmers Can Collect Pay for Mowing Pasture Weeds

Weeds are moisture thieves, taking up much of the moisture needed by the grass at this time of year, Clifford F. Shaw, Columbiana county AAA chairman, warns farmers.

Advising farmers to mow weeds on non-crop open pasture, Shaw points out that diversion of moisture not only cuts down the amount of pasture available, but also affects the stand. This in turn reduces the production of beef or milk, depending on the type of cattle grazing the pasture.

To encourage farmers to mow weeds, AAA in Ohio will make a payment of 50 cents per acre for each mowing of non-crop open pasture land. The weeds must be mowed enough times during the growing season to prevent weed seed formation. No hay or seed may be taken from this land. Shaw said every farm in Columbiana county has an allowance, set up under the agricultural conservation program, which can be earned by performing one or more of several approved soil improvement practices. Weed mowing is one of these approved practices.

U.S. AIRCRAFT ATTACKS GUAM

Tokyo Radio Also Reports New Raid On Rota Island In Marianas

(By Associated Press)

American planes again have raided Japanese-held Guam and Rota islands south of invaded Saipan. Tokyo radio said today.

The unconfirmed report said 60 to 100 American aircraft struck at Guam and that 60 hit Rota to the north Tuesday. These were the third raids reported on these islands in four days, suggesting that the American navy was clearing the way for further expansion of its holdings in the Marianas group, 1,500 miles from Japan.

On Saipan U. S. Marines and infantrymen at last report were meeting stiffer opposition from Japanese garrisons dug in along a mountainous, cave-lined front roughly halving the island. But the last report covered the situation as of two days ago, and Adm. Chester Nimitz headquarters has been silent since Monday afternoon.

Coupled with the report Guam-Rota roads was in an air blow at Yap from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific theater.

Yap, 250 miles northeast of Palau in the Carolines, was slugged with 35 tons of bombs, presumably to insure that Japanese air forces there are kept from interfering with the Saipan operations 700 miles to the north.

It was the Yap's third raid in a week and 30 enemy planes rose to meet it. Eight were downed. The Americans lost a Liberator.

MacArthur's army bombed Palau and Woleai, wrecked a Jap freighter off Boeroe island west of New Guinea, damaged three other vessels in the East Indies, and attacked Manokwari, Noemfoor, Wewak and their old favorite, Rabaul.

The Japanese retaliated with a 10-ton raid on Biak island's Mokmer airdrome, inflicting minor casualties.

The meager news from Asia pictured the Chinese suffering and inflicting heavy losses in defending Hengyang, keypoint on the Hankow-Canton railroad. The Japanese sent a column on a new encircling move designed, Chungking surmised, to cut the city off from the south.

Mitkyina was still under heavy attack by Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's troops and a supporting Chinese force cut the Burma road below Lungling, which the Chinese are trying to recapture. The Chinese who captured Mogaung moved six miles northeast and took Namti.

HEROIC OHIO 37TH WINS BATTLE HONOR

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The War department today announced award of battle honors, in the name of the President, to Company E and Company F of Ohio's heroic 37th infantry division for "breaking the backbone of the entire enemy offensive on the island of Bougainville last March."

In an initial counterattack against the Japs entrenched on hilltop, the men of Company E clung to dangerous hillside positions all through the night of March 11 under constant mortar and machinegun fire. The next morning the two companies coordinated in a difficult flanking movement across the fire-swept terrain, using rocket launchers, flame throwers, smoke grenades and other infantry weapons against the Japs.

The action resulted, the War department reported, in the "destruction of Japanese forces in that sector and the removal of a major threat to our position."

The Ohioans lost 15 men, the enemy 407, the War department said.

Award of battle honors was made for "the magnificent gallantry, heroism, teamwork and the will-to-win" the men in the two companies displayed and "the tremendously significant part each took in the counterattack."

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

BASEBALL TODAY:

Salem Hardball Team Pits Talents Against Powerful Carrollton Merchants Here

Fresh from a surprise win over the previously unbeaten East Liverpool Red Sox, the Salem Athletics the only hardball aggregation in Salem this year—will meet a strong Carrollton Merchant squad at Centennial park at 6:30 p. m. today.

Well-heeled with hitters and two expert mounders, the Merchants loom as a threat to the imposing record already compiled by the locals. On the mound today will be either George Yanen or Arch Kelly, who both boast enviable records this season for the Merchants.

Kelly racked up 15 strikeouts against the Waynesburg Whitecaps, Greens not long ago and won the game with little trouble. Yanen faced the Alliance Transue-Williams outfit, now leading the Class A loop in that city, and set them down with two hits, three runs and 13 strikeouts.

To tame the hard slugging Merchants—who are representing Lake

Placencia this season—Salem will put Walt Smith on the hill and Taubler on the receiving job. In the infield will be Russ Morrison at short, Gordy Scullion at second, Al Catlos at third and Halverstadt on first base. Outfielders Kenst, Ehrhart and Huffer will perform in their usual assignments.

Carrollton uses Paul Leatherberry on first, "Ant" DeNicola on second, Ed Finnical at short and Dennis "Chief" Hendrix in the hot corner. George Yanen, the pitcher, may start at third if he doesn't get the elbowing assignment. Outfielders, Chuck Boesch, Vic Duval and "Jugs" Meese will work in left, center and right fields, respectively.

The Merchants have dropped just one game in seven, while the Salem outfit has four victories in six tries. The game here tonight will be the first in a home-and-home arrangement, with Salem going to Lake Placencia Sunday to return the visit.

Playing Golf Not Unpatriotic, Head Of Golfers Asserts

Morton G. Bogue, president of the U. S. Golf Association, in speaking of wartime golf, says "we are all mindful that we will be in this war for some time to come. Nevertheless, we can still enjoy a recreational game of golf without being unpatriotic."

"The success of golf has never been dependent upon a gate and never will be. It is a friendly and wholesome sport and I do not believe there is any other sport which has been responsible for forming so many close friendships through the companionship which it affords."

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK, June 28.—Ned Irish, boss of Madison Square Garden, already has so many basketball teams lined up for next winter that he can't find room for all of them.

Ned says he could use three more dates but the only way he can get them would be to run court shows on successive nights—which wouldn't be good box office.

Dickie Jones, the Henry Aldrich of the radio, has ambitions to become a pole vaulter and makes Dutch Warmerdam his idol.

WATCHFUL WAITING
When Allen Dillon, former Drake U. athlete, first went to Alaska, his big ambition was to kill a bear. But he learned that a non-resident hunting license cost $100 while it cost only two bucks for a resident to hunt.

So Allen patiently waited until a year had passed and he qualified as a resident, then he planked down two bucks and one his first trip bagged a 300-pound brown.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Al Atkins, U. of Washington center fielder, hit .656 on 46 trips to the plate during the past season, which apparently qualifies him for the Intercollegiate championship unless somebody comes up with a better record.

Johnny Wyrostek, of Columbus, current American association hitting leader, not only was last in batting among National leaguers who played more than 50 games last season but he was at the bottom of the fielding list for outfielders, second basemen and third basemen.

Bill Smith, the Hawaiian swimming champ, has been graduated from the Navy physical instructors' school at Bainbridge, Md., with a rating of specialist (athletics) second class.

Which is probably the first time Bill has been rated second class since he began competition.

Indians Must Play Better Than .500 Ball to Hope For Pennant Chance

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—Confronted with the fact that they must play better than .500 ball to retain any pennant hopes, Cleveland's Indians engaged the Philadelphia Athletics today in the inaugural of a 14-game eastern tour.

Allie Reynolds drew the Tribal mound assignment against the A's Don Black in the opener of the three-game series.

Second Baseman Ray Mack, who has been playing with the Indians in their home contests, is taking a two-week vacation from his Cleveland War Plant job and will be available for the entire eastern tour.

The Tribe added another fly chaser to its roster yesterday when Myril Hoag was obtained from the Chicago White Sox for the waiver price of $7,500. Hoag, a medical discharge from the Army, had been used sparingly this season by the Chicks and will serve as a utility outfielder with the Indians.

Pitcher Kal Klein was optioned to the Baltimore club of the International league to keep the Tribe within the 25-player limit.

MATRON STAKE RUN TODAY AT RANDALL
(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 28.—A preview of the Hambletonian takes place at North Randall's grand circuit track today as seven three-year-old trotters step out in the $3,856 Matron stake.

Yankee Maid is top choice in today's event as well as in Hambletonian future book. Eva's Boy and Enac are expected to give the Maid the most competition.

Kimberly Hanover, a two-year-old filly, clicked in her first public appearance yesterday by winning the $2,000 Cleveland Plain Dealer purse in straight heats.

A long shot at 15 to 1 in the first heat, Kimberly won by a short neck over Nora in the opening whirl and came back to trim Honor Hanover by a good length in the second mile.

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds started his career as a pitcher with High Point in the Piedmont league in 1929.

MATRON STAKE RUN TODAY AT RANDALL
(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 28.—A preview of the Hambletonian takes place at North Randall's grand circuit track today as seven three-year-old trotters step out in the $3,856 Matron stake.

Yankee Maid is top choice in today's event as well as in Hambletonian future book. Eva's Boy and Enac are expected to give the Maid the most competition.

Kimberly Hanover, a two-year-old filly, clicked in her first public appearance yesterday by winning the $2,000 Cleveland Plain Dealer purse in straight heats.

A long shot at 15 to 1 in the first heat, Kimberly won by a short neck over Nora in the opening whirl and came back to trim Honor Hanover by a good length in the second mile.

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds started his career as a pitcher with High Point in the Piedmont league in 1929.

YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE UP IN ARMS FOR HITLER NOW

IN THIS COUNTRY we sing "they're either too young or too old," but in Germany there is no such slogan. Proof of this is shown above as two Nazi youngsters, captured on the Allied beachhead in Normandy, stand before their American captor. Taken in the same bag of Nazi prisoners of war were the grizzled veterans in the background. (International)

BRITISH

med in on the horns of the peninsula," said a communiqué No. 45 issued at 11 a. m. today.

Gen. Montgomery held a position of great potential advantage at Tourville, about six miles southwest of Caen. A swift armored drive from there would cut off Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's communications into Caen and trap a number of Nazi divisions around the city.

Rommel was known to have four tank divisions, two of them seasoned outfits, in this area. The biggest tank battle of the campaign appeared in the offing.

The British advance was made in the hardest kind of fighting. The Germans used tanks extensively and dozens of big German Tiger and Panther tanks were destroyed.

Among the effective air operations was an attack by rocket-firing Typhoons of the RAF which demolished a German army corps headquarters located in a chateau at St. Sauveur Endelin in the southern part of the Cherbourg peninsula.

A dispatch from 21st army group headquarters said five German generals had been killed thus far in the Normandy campaign. It estimated 100 German tanks had been destroyed and at least 200 knocked out.

VICHY INFORMATION HEAD ASSASSINATED

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 28.—Philippe Henriot, Vichy minister of information and propaganda, was assassinated last night in Paris by 15 or 20 uniformed men who forced their way into his bedroom, the Axis radios announced today.

Apparently a victim of French patriots, Henriot was the most important collaborator yet to fall. Berlin agencies first broadcast reports of the assassination. A short time later Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of state, took to the air and declared Henriot "was animated only by patriotism. He fell this morning a hero."

The German agency transconco which said Henriot had reached Paris yesterday in company with Laval, reported 15 or 20 men forced their way into the Ministry of Information where Henriot was living, demanded to see him, and fired when his bedroom door was opened.

The Berlin broadcasts failed to mention whether any of the assassins had been captured. A strong indication that they got away.

EXTOLLS DEWEY

dle of the stream," Griswold observed:

"There are now 26 Republican wartime governors. In these states, the people did not change horses; they changed vehicles."

"In naming this man, we are not merely choosing a candidate—we are choosing a nominee who cannot fail to win. The direction of the war is already set and it will not be changed by the coming election. But the election will change our direction here at home."

Without naming President Roosevelt, Griswold said "the past will have its spokesman in this campaign," but the Republicans propose in Dewey to have "the spokesman of the future."

He praised Dewey's record as a racket-busting prosecutor who "broke the alliance between corrupt politics and crime" and declared:

"What a house cleaning this nation needs and what a man to do the job!"
